

Know Your Zone!

Do you know what storm surge zone your home is located in?
Would you know what to do and where to go if asked to evacuate?

The greatest killer of people during hurricanes is storm surge – the dome of water pushed ashore by powerful hurricane winds. Entire buildings can be moved, and can cause more damage than the winds of a hurricane itself. Florida is extremely vulnerable to surge flooding because of its coastal and low-lying geography.

Staying safe from surge flooding is easy. If you live in a zone that has been ordered to evacuate, get out. Storm surge evacuation zone maps are available for each coastal county in Florida, using the latest technology to clearly define which areas are at risk of inundation by storm surge.

The best way to be prepared for a hurricane storm surge is to know your evacuation zone and plan your destination and travel routes ahead of time.
