Use of DEM Photography, Maps, Audio/Visual Recordings and Other Written Material

General Conditions

- In general, the Division of Emergency Management's (DEM) imagery, video and audio materials are not copyrighted.
- You may use DEM audio, video or photographs for educational or informational purposes, which may include photo collections, textbooks, public exhibits and Internet web pages.
- Some materials may contain a copyright notice. It is your responsibility to identify the copyright owner and to obtain permission before making use of this material.
- Please acknowledge DEM as the source of used material. Our preference for the credit line is: DEM/<photographer's name>, or without a photographer's name: DEM News Photo.
- DEM materials may not be used to state or imply the endorsement by DEM or by any DEM employee of a commercial product, service or activity, or used in any other manner that might mislead the public.

Photography

Photographs are not protected by copyright unless noted. If copyrighted, permission should be obtained from the copyright owner prior to use. If not copyrighted, photographs may be downloaded, reproduced and distributed without further permission from DEM and may be used for educational and informational purposes, which may include photo collections, textbooks, public exhibits and Internet web pages.

Maps

Maps are not protected by copyright unless noted. If copyrighted, permission should be obtained from the copyright owner prior to use. If not copyrighted, maps may be downloaded, reproduced and distributed without further permission from DEM and may be used for educational and informational purposes, which may include printed materials, textbooks, public exhibits and Internet web pages.

Audio Recordings

Audio recordings are not protected by copyright unless noted. An audio recording may be downloaded, excerpted, reproduced and/or distributed, without further permission from DEM. However, use of a portion or segment of an audiotape, such as talent, narration or music, may infringe a right of publicity or copyright and permission should be obtained from the source.

Video and Motion Picture Recordings

Videotape, video files and motion picture recordings are not protected by copyright unless noted. A recording may be reproduced and distributed without further permission from DEM. Copyrighted music or footage, which is incorporated in a production, may not be used unless permission is obtained from the copyright owner. While in most instances using non-copyrighted segments is permitted, use for commercial purposes of a portion or segment containing talent or a recognizable person may infringe a right of publicity and permission should be obtained from the talent or recognizable person.
